It was a bad day for Mary Lang, the worst since the day of the blowout. She saw it as a necessary but infamous thing to do to a proud flying machine. She brooded about it for a week, becoming short-tempered and almost unapproachable. Then she asked Crawford to join her in the private shelter. It was the first time she had asked any of the other four. They lay in each other's arms for an hour, and Lang quietly sobbed on his chest. Crawford was proud that she had chosen him for her companion when she could no longer maintain her tough, competent show of strength. In a way, it was a strong thing to do, to expose weakness to the one person among the four who might possibly be her rival for leadership. He did not betray the trust. In the end, she was comforting him..the balls!".The camp was anything but orderly. No one would get the impression that any care had been taken.In his bedroom something rustled..Song straightened up, moving stiffly. They had all worked hard to empty out the collapsed dome and."I have just been given the ultimate garbage presentation," he said. "Your boys should know better."Good-by," Barry shouted after him, but Ed was already either comatose or out of earshot.
